Known only from sterile cultures, the monotypic Gamarada, type species G. debralockiae, is a widely distributed ericoid mycorrhizal fungus in Australia. Based on DNA sequencing, other unnamed species occur through the Asia-Pacific region (Quijada et al. 2022). DNA sequencing places Gamarada in Hyphodiscaceae, forming a sister relationship with Glutinomyces (Quijada et al. 2022, Johnston 2022).
